Wallace Considers Plan to Make Milk Public Utility

WASHINGTON—Secretary Wallace and his Brain Trust assistants are seriously considering the possibility of making milk a public utility.

Agriculture Department authorities say there is no real excess of milk in the United States, but under-consumption due to high prices charged by monopolistic distributors. The experts believe the milk marketing agreements are not meeting the milk problem, and that the best solution would be to declare the production and sale of the commodity a public utility.

Thus, the proponents hold, the government could force a material reduction in cost to the consumer, thereby appreciably increase purchases.

Hard-Boiled

The other day Madame Perkins, forthright Secretary of Labor, nominated Paul Pigott of Seattle to be Washington State Director of the National Re-Employment Service and wired Senator Homer Bone of Washington for his approval.

Idealistic Senator Bone received the telegram, conferred with his ex-Secretary Sol Haas, now Collector of the Port of Seattle.

"Can she really mean Pigott," they exclaimed, "the notorious strike breaker, the man who has fought the battle of the power companies?"

So Senator Bone wired back to Madame Perkins describing the appointment as incredible. He offered to suggest several names in Pigott's place.

His only answer was the definite appointment of Pigott. Madame Secretary is getting hard-boiled.

Newest Debt Deal

The row over the collection of debts sown broadcast by American bankers for unsuspecting American bondholders during the Coolidge era, has now been settled.

Neither the bankers nor a government-formed agency will attempt to gather in the sadly shrunk debts.

Instead a group of distinguished and unprejudiced citizens will form a committee to do the job. It will be completely independent of the government and also of the bankers.

Word comes to the Capital that Jim Reed is planning a return to the political arena. . . . The doughty, silver-crested Missouri warrior is reported to be satisfied with private life, and has been assured by Missouri Democratic leaders that he can have the party's senatorial nomination without contest next year if he will run against the state's dry, reactionary Republican incumbent, Roscoe C. WATER FIRM FIGHTS RATE

Utility Claims Prices Set By Delaware Council Not High Enough.

COLUMBUS, Oct. 16.—The state utilities commission today notified interested parties in the Delaware water rate case to be present here for a hearing on Nov. 14, at which time a program of procedure will be adopted for disposing of the protest filed by the Delaware Water Company against rates set by the city council.

The water company, through its attorney, F. M. Marriott, objected strenuously to fixing by ordinance the intervals when bills for metered water service may be rendered and collected, and to restrictions imposed upon rendering of certain bills for metered service but once in three months.

Bond was posted with the commission to enable the company to collect the old rates pending disposition of the appeal from the rate-fixing ordinance which was passed on Sept. 5, and is effective for two years.

New rates prescribed by the ordinance and at which the water company claims it cannot operate at a profit are: 35 cents per 100 cubic feet per month for the first 4,000 cubic feet; 29 cents per 100 cubic feet for the next 4,000 cubic feet; 19 cents per 100 cubic feet for the next 8,000 cubic feet, with an 8-cent rate for all in excess of that amount.

New meter charges would range from $1 per month for the 5-8 inch type to $50 per month for the 6-inch meter.

Name Sent to Postmaster-General for Appointment as Postmaster

GEPHART OKEHEED

Letter of Instruction to Hays is Expected

Congressman Mell G. Underwood announced Tuesday that he had certified the name of Hulse Hays, N. Court-st., to Postmaster-General James A. Farley for appointment as postmaster for this city. He also forwarded the name of Thomas B. Gephart to act as postmaster at Williamsport, to fill an expected vacancy.

Telegrams to C. A. Leist, chairman of the Pickaway-co Democratic executive committee, and to The Herald disclosed Mr. Underwood's action. Mr. Hays received word from Washington, D. C. that he would be sent a letter of instructions within a few days.

TELEGRAM QUOTED

Mr. Underwood's wire read: "In accordance with the recommendations recently made by the Democratic executive committee of Pickaway-co, I have forwarded to the postmaster-general the name of Hulse Hays for appointment as postmaster at Circleville, Ohio, and T. B. Gephart at Williamsport, Ohio."

It is expected that Mr. Farley will also certify Mr. Hays at once with a change to be made in the post office immediately thereafter. Mr. Hays' letter of instruction will probably care for all these details. Orville Trone, assistant postmaster, has been acting postmaster since the resignation of George P. Foreman, whose terms under Republican presidents expired last December. It is expected Mr. Trone will return to his duties as assistant postmaster. He was not an applicant for the permanent postmastership.

The local office pays a salary of $2,900 annually with a 15 per cent reduction under the economy program.

STATUS UNCERTAIN

The exact status of the Williamsport job is not yet certain. At the Democratic committee meeting last Tuesday Mr. Leist declared that Bertus Moore, Williamsport postmaster, informed him that he would resign if asked by postal authorities. No notice of the request has yet been received. Mr. Gephart was endorsed by the committee to temporarily fill the vacancy when such a vacancy exists.

The coast guard cutter Northland continued its search for survivors.

Student-Heir Tells Police Youthful Gang Kidnaped Him; Freed By Guard

CHICAGO, Oct. 17.—Fatigued to the point of collapse, William W. Hall, law student and heir to part of a $250,000 estate, told federal authorities today that a gang of youthful kidnapers had held him captive since last Friday night.

Hall suddenly reappeared last night at a cafe owned by Louis Leider, a law college classmate, and telephoned his wife, Julia, informing her of his release.

The 31-year-old student, part owner of the Sea Dog Inn, told federal agents he had been thrown blindfolded from an automobile a half block away from Leider's cafe.

Local Drys Gather As Wets Meet

Two Meetings Here; Mrs. Hays Attends Confab On Law's Reform.

The wet and dry contest which will be decided in Ohio on November 7, came 'home' today as both organizations girded for the fight in the 'home stretch.'

Two meetings of temperance advocates were scheduled here today while the Ohio division of the Women's Organization for Prohibition Reform, with a Pickaway-co representative as an official delegate, was meeting in Columbus to form definite plans for the drive to reach a climax in the election.

Dry forces rallied at the Methodist Episcopal church this afternoon to hear Congressman Ellis Moore of Zanesville who was scheduled to make an address for prohibition under the auspices of the local Woman's Christian Temperance Union.

DUTY TO SPEAK

This evening a meeting sponsored by the United Temperance Forces of Pickaway-co, of which S. G. Rader is president, will be held in the Methodist church at 7:30 o'clock at which time Attorney Eoyd P. Doty, of Columbus, will champion the cause of prohibition.

Mrs. Hulse Hays, N. Court-st., was in attendance at the meeting at the Neil house, Columbus, when women seeking the dry law's reform gathered.

The organization comprises one of the six units of the Ohio Repeal Council, the others being the Association Against the Eighteenth Amendment, the Crusaders, the Volunteer Committee of Lawyers of the American Bar Association, the Ohio Federation of Labor and the Ohio Hotels Association.

MAN WHO SHOT FISSELL, BOGGS UP FOR PAROLE

Claude Salsberry, Gerald McGraw to Get Hearing on December 1

OFFICIALS IRED

Letters of Opposition Expected to be Sent

The sheriff's office was up in arms today when it was learned Claude Salsberry and Gerald McGraw, convicted of shooting Deputy Sheriffs Miller Fissell and Morris Boggs last Jan. 11, are eligible for parole hearings on December 1. Announcement of the hearings was made by Dan J. Benzo, record clerk at the Ohio penitentiary where the two Columbus men are confined.

It seems only a short while ago that Salsberry and McGraw were sent to the prison. They were sentenced to the penitentiary for one to 20 years on Jan. 26, 15 days after the shooting on N. Court-st.

Many letters of opposition to their parole are expected to be sent to the state board of paroles and pardons before the hearing date arrives.

SALSBERY GUNMAN

Salsberry, an unemployed salesman, was the gunman while McGraw was with him at the time of the shooting. Fissell was shot through the left shoulder and Boggs' left wrist was struck by bullets from Salsberry's revolver. McGraw stood still while the shooting was going on while Salsberry tied and was captured the next night while in bed at his home on S. City Park-ave, Columbus.

Fissell and Boggs have both suffered intensely as a result of their wounds, the former spending considerable time in the hospital.

The shooting followed a chase in a running gun-fire over city streets between Salsberry and McGraw. The Columbus men, who came here after stealing a Columbus taxi-cab, were walking north on Court-st. after wrecking their cab.

FOLLOWED STATUTE

The sentence given them by Judge Adkins was compulsory under the law. The term, one to 20 years, means that convicted persons are eligible for parole after serving one year.

If there is no opposition to their parole and their conduct while in the institution is satisfactory they are usually paroled.

Gilly Williams, father of a large Williamsport family, is also up for parole from the penitentiary December 1. Williams was convicted January 19, 1933, for breaking and entering a garage of Charles Arledge and stealing a quantity of staples.

County Man Knocks Top Off Racket

Rector As State Examiner Charges Columbus Official With Irregularity.

George Rector, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. C. Rector, Deer Creek-twp., is in the center of a 'squabble' which threatens to 'knock the top' off Columbus relief work. Rector is a state examiner and his report on the City of Columbus has resulted in the discharge of John C. McIntyre, supervisor of the city division of parks and forestry.

Rector's report named McIntyre in connection with payroll padding and pay-offs in city relief work.

Mayor Henry Worley in 'canning' McIntyre said "the evidence seems to be so conclusive we feel prosecution should ensue." McIntyre denied all charges.

Rector in his report to State Auditor Joe Tracy stated that teamsters hired by the city told him they had received extra money in their pay envelopes which they had given McIntyre. One of the teamsters said the man had bought whiskey and drank it while working.

PICKREL LAUDS 'AGE PENSIONS'

Dayton Man Speaks Here Monday Evening; Asks Support of NRA.

A plea for an old age pension law in Ohio was made Monday evening by William G. Pickrel, Dayton, when he addressed a number of members of the Fraternal Order of Eagles and others at Memorial Hall.

Mr. Pickrel, a former lieutenant governor, is a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor and while here visited several local political leaders.

The speaker, introduced by Hugh McNamany, stressed the support given old age pensions by President Roosevelt who signed such a bill before he left the governor's chair in New York state. James M. Cox and numerous other leading men were listed as advocates of the system by the speaker.

"Leading newspapers, independent magazines and numerous other influential agencies," Mr. Pickrel related, "are backing the old age pension plan. There are many safeguards in the proposed law and there will be no additional taxation if the state indorses the system."

A number of other interesting facts concerning the plan were told by Mr. Pickrel.

He also praised the National Recovery Act and implored every one to support it.

Preceding the address music was furnished by a quartet under the direction of Ren Mumaw.

CONVICT SHOT IN ESCAPE ATTEMPT

SHELBY, Oct. 17.—Shot in the back as he attempted to elude capture after a daring break for freedom from the custody of a guard who was returning him to the Wyoming penitentiary, William Scully, 26, an escaped convict, was reported near death in Shelby hospital here today.

Scully was shot down last night by two policemen, John Coleman and Duke Cline, who cornered him in an automobile driveway of a private residence here, after he had succeeded in removing his handcuffs and slipping off a train on which he was being taken back to Wyoming by Deputy Warden F. R. Kiesel of the Wyoming Penitentiary.

The county commissioners, Monday, determined depositories for various county funds.

The Circleville Savings and Banking Co., the only local institution to present a bid, was granted a $100,000 active deposit for the next three years at 1 per cent.

The Ashville Banking Co. was granted $40,000 at 2 1/2 per cent; the Citizens' Bank of Ashville $50,000 at 2 1/2 per cent and the Scioto Banking Co., Commercial Plot, $5,000 at 2 per cent. The latter three are inactive deposits for three years.

SAYS CONGRESSMAN HINDERS NEW DEAL

Yellowbud Man Defies New Lexington Congressman to Meet Him Before County Committee; Says Record Shows Success of His Office; "Facts Twisted" Immell Declares.

A defy to Congressman Mell G. Underwood to meet him before the Pickaway-co Democratic executive committee to give the New Lexington man a chance to substantiate his charges against the Federal Land Bank at Louisville and himself as agent for the Land Bank commissioner, was hurled today by Robert L. Immell, of Yellowbud, in answer to charges fired by Mr. Underwood last week.

The congressman's assertions resulted in the county committee requesting Mr. Immell's resignation as agent for the commissioner.

"I will stand on my record since taking over my job," Mr. Immell said. "All charges Mr. Underwood made at the committee meeting were false and he knew they were. He was either ignorant of the working of the law or had another motive in mind. He did not answer questions concerning appointment of land appraisers leaving the committee think that a number of Republican appointments had come through my hands," the agent declared.

"Mr. Underwood referred to the Federal Land Bank at Louisville as a flop but on October 4 the bank was leading the nation on its record. If this organization is a 'flop' then the entire Farm Credit system, one of the keys of the Roosevelt New Deal, is a failure. Mr. Underwood is obstructing the action of the New Deal by attacking this Land Bank," Mr. Immell continued. "This is not the first occasion on which Mr. Underwood has resisted the policies of the New Deal. He voted against the Economy Act which gave the President the right to proceed with his efforts toward recovery. 'The congressman is after me claiming that I did not follow his patronage desires. I permitted him to select the highest salaried appointees of the office. 'His statement concerning consolidation of my office with the Federal Land Bank led his listeners to believe that the Fourth district was the only one in which this took place. It was nationwide and he was informed that the step was taken.'"

Mr. Immell concluded by defying Mr. Underwood to appear with him before the local committee.

Mr. Immell announced Tuesday that he is opening a branch of the Federal Land Bank in Columbus. This branch will be located in the state house in the offices of the state banking department and will comprise six aides who

GROUP PLANS TO CONFER ON ROAD

Problem of Obtaining Funds For Route 22 Work Discussed At Kiwanis.

Possibility of re-construction of the Williamsport-pk. road of this city, at expense to the federal and state government, was discussed at length at the Kiwanis club meeting Monday evening.

The club has appointed a committee to visit the county commissioners next Monday to seek their indorsement for the project. Rotary and Chamber of Commerce have also named committees to meet with the county dads.

Fred C. Clark, who started the ball rolling toward the improvement; Meeker Terwilliger, of the Rotary club committee, and Clarence Helvering, of the Kiwanis committee, related details concerning procedure toward obtaining funds for the work.

Circleville would benefit greatly by business from the western part of the county if the improvement can be made. Traffic over this highway from the eastern part of the nation to the west has increased greatly in the past few years and need of improvement is imperative.

Tigers Prepare For Grandview

Defensive work with tackling as the long suit was being stressed today by Coach Pete Herberholz as his Red and Black warriors prepared to meet the onslaughts of a clever Grandview outfit.

The Bobcats come here Friday afternoon for the second home game of the season for the local aggregation. Grandview turned back Delaware last week end and was effective in its chores.

Coach Herberholz has the advantage of seeing the Grandview team in action so he knows how to prepare his athletes for the offense prepared by Bill Zwick, Grandview mentor.

The Tiger team is expected to be in full force for the Columbus suburbanites with all those injured in the early games ready for action. A rest of two weeks should prove beneficial to the Tigers.

It has been announced that Bill Griffith, former local coach, and Art Jones, Columbus North hi coach, will officiate.

Ohio, Miami Tilt Is Homecoming

ATHENS, Oct. 17.—Ohio University's fighting Bobcat football team will return to Buckeye state competition Saturday when it tangles with the Miami Redskins here in one of the grid headlines of the state and the Homecoming tilt for the Pedenmen.

Memories of the 1932 setback by the Wiltonians of Oxford are none too sweet for the Bobcats and plenty of good football and fight will be seen in Athens. After defeating the Navy, 16-10, last year and finding more than half the regular team on the sidelines, Ohio University dropped its first Buckeye Conference game and title in four years.

Miami will bring the same eleven, with one exception, to Athens this week for the contest which promises to settle doubts of Buckeye Conference supremacy this season. In addition to his large group of regulars, Coach Wilton also has a strong array of reserves to insert if necessary.

Ohio's reserve strength is greater than it has ever been. With an average of more than two teams seeing action in each of Ohio's games this year, Coach Peden has built the strength of his sophomores to a creditable position now. They will probably be given opportunity of showing all they have learned this year.

MAJORS TO DELAY OPENING IN 1934

CHICAGO, Oct. 17.—Major league baseball will be delayed one week in opening for the 1934 season to escape some of the bad weather, it was announced today by President William Harridge of the American League.

Representatives of National and American league arrived at the decision to shorten the season at a secret meeting held during the last world series, Harridge said.

The agreement represented a compromise between National league officials who favored going ahead as in other years and American league moguls favoring an April 24 opening. Most National league officials proposed a 168 game program.

will give over their time to instructing Ohio farmers in the proper manner to file their requests for federal farm loans.

These claims are not to be filed with the Columbus branch but information on how to prepare them and where to send them, according to location in the state, will be given out and every facility given to speed action on these Ohio claims so that with the great mass of claims from over the entire Fourth Federal Land Bank district comprising the states of Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky and Tennessee, the Ohio claims will not be smothered in the immense number coming in from all other sections.

Mr. Immell has been very busy since he entered into the government employ and his section has been somewhat backward owing to the fact that he was the last of the Land Commissioners agents appointed being put into the harness some fifteen days later than any of the others and then not getting a deputy until July 1st.

His first loan was approved and sent in on June 1st and then for four weeks no action could be taken because no appraisal reports were received from the appraisal department.

NOT WITH BANK

This department, Mr. Immell explained is a separate department within itself over which the Land Bank nor the agent of the land commissioners have any control.

The district had fifteen land appraisers at this opening period and these were devoting their times to teaching other appraisers. Now the entire district has almost 800 appraisers at work and Mr. Immell states that Ohio has 200 in action in the field. His section led the entire country in speed and in putting loan applications through the various channels into which they have to be placed before final action can be had upon them.

BAR GROUP WRITES WALTERS MEMORIAL

This community was shocked to learn of the unexpected death of Barton Walters, an out-standing citizen of Circleville, and a distinguished member and leader of the Pickaway County Bar, which occurred on Friday, September 8, 1933 at Mackinac City, Michigan. Mr. Walters was seized with an attack of cardiac asthma, while on his way to Mackinac Island, seeking relief from hay fever, from which malady he suffered annually all his life, and lingered but a few hours after he was stricken.

Barton Walters was born in Circleville, Ohio, on the 15th day of November, 1876, where he grew to manhood.

His father, Festus Walters, was a distinguished lawyer and jurist and served for a number of years as a judge on the common pleas Court and Court of Appeals benches of this State.

Barton Walters graduated from the public schools of this city, where he won distinction as the captain of the High School Cadets. He afterward attended Ohio State University where he was a member of Phi Kappa Psi fraternity. Before taking up law as a profession he was very active in the study of archaeology and became quite an authority on such matters. He was also very fond of antiques and made a large and valuable collection of them, which he had at the time of his death. After being admitted to the bar he began the practice of law at Circleville, and was successful as a practitioner from the beginning of his career.

As a lawyer his services were in demand in the trial of many important cases, in Pickaway county, and throughout central Ohio.

He was always faithful to his professional duties, was a tireless student, energetic and thorough in his preparation of the cases in which he was engaged, and resourceful in the trial of the same. He was a man of pleasing personality, quick witted and gifted as an orator, which enabled him to place before a court and jury the facts and the law of a case in such manner as to be most convincing and earn him the well deserved reputation of a great advocate, which he was.

Barton Walters was always fair and honest in his professional duties, demanding and insisting upon the presentation of the rights of his clients in the trial of a case, and tireless and fearless in securing them, though he was always respectful to the court and opposing counsel. As a lawyer he will be missed not only by his large clientele of well to do people, but also by those who were unable to employ counsel, to whom he gave advice and services freely and cheerfully.

He was married to Mrs. Harriet Gallagher, who preceded him in death about one year ago. Although he had no children he took a fatherly interest in his nieces and nephews whom he helped in many ways.

The career of Barton Walters as a politician was unique. Born a Republican, he was always a warm advocate and supporter of that party, which signally honored him by repeatedly electing him to succeed himself as Chairman of the Republican Central and Executive Committees of this county, which offices he held continuously for a period of almost thirty years. He never sought any remuneration for his services, but was elected to the electoral college in 1920, and voted for Warren G. Harding as such, for president. He was chosen as a delegate to the National Republican Convention, at Cleveland, in 1924 when Calvin Coolidge was nominated for President to succeed himself.

His passing will be felt by the Republican party, as his activities as a leader in the interest of that party were many and beneficial. He will also be missed as a member of the Pickaway Bar and Law Library Association, of which he took an active and painstaking interest, and the fine law library of the local bar is due in a large measure to his efforts. Fraternally he was a Mason and an Elk. The deceased is survived by five brothers, namely: Robert,

Why the Sudden Change to Liquid Laxatives?

Doctors have always recognized the value of the laxative whose dose can be measured, and whose action can be controlled.

The public, too, is fast returning to the use of liquid laxatives. People have learned that a properly prepared liquid laxative brings a perfect movement without any discomfort at the time, or after.

The dose of a liquid laxative can be varied to suit the needs of the individual. The action can thus be regulated. It forms no habit; you need not take a "double dose" a day or two later. Nor will a mild liquid laxative irritate the kidneys.

The wrong cathartic may keep you constipated as long as you keep on using it.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a prescription, and is perfectly safe. Its laxative action is based on senna—a natural laxative. The bowels will not become dependent on this form of help. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is at all druggists. Member N. R. A.

Homer, Ralph, Edmund and Nelson, all of Circleville, and Maria Walters, widow of Joseph Walters, a deceased brother and the children.

Mr. Walters was buried in Forest Cemetery, of which he was one of the trustees, Rev. L. C. Sherrburn, of St. Phillips Episcopal church, of which Mr. Walters was a communicant, officiating at his funeral which was attended by many of the bench and bar of central Ohio, besides a host of relatives and friends. In conclusion a verse of a poem written of a distinguished jurist and members of the bar of his state comes to mind:

"And what a pleasing retrospect it shows him: The 'troops of friends', high honors, fairly won, The love of those who knew him best and longest, And, more than all, the sense of duty done."

MAKE PLANS FOR CORN FIELD DAY

Husking Contests Go To Huron-Co To Henry Farm At Monroeville.

Ohio's fourth annual field day for corn growers, when champion huskers of standing corn and corn in the shock are selected, is scheduled for November 3 at the farm of Arthur Henry, two miles east of Monroeville on Route 20.

Including besides the corn husking contest a series of educational demonstrations and exhibits of corn growing machinery, the event this year is expected to attract fully as many farmers as last year, when 15,000 attended Corn Field Day in Licking-co.

A special feature of this year's program is an exhibit and explanation of the Corn-Hog Program of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, the committee of Huron-co farmers in charge of the event announces.

The Ohio Farmer publication, by putting up the prize money for the husking contests and paying the way of the winner to the Nebraska national championship husking contests November 10, is sponsoring the athletic phases of the field day. Educational phases of the program are in charge of the Ohio Agricultural Extension Service.

Farm Machinery manufacturers are preparing to set up exhibits in the 90-acre field adjoining the 70 acres where the husking contests are to be staged. The field of Clarage corn, the scene for the contests, is expected to yield about 65 bushels an acre.

Teams for drawing wagons of the contestants and for hauling away corn will be furnished by the Huron County Draft Horse Association. The association will make the event an annual show, by providing prizes for the best teams entered.

Will Rogers Picks A Story For This Spot

By WILL ROGERS

SOME women don't mind making their husbands feel like thirty cents. And some even have a kind of a talent for making 'em feel that way.

At the Dour's house they had company, and Jim Dour went out to mix up a little lemonade or something for the guests.

When he heard his wife say, "Oh, Darling!" Jim came scotching out.

"What is it?" he says.

"O, Jim," she says, "be yourself! I was talking to the dog, of course! He was about to knock over the fern on his poor little back."

Remove the Uncertainty

THAT recognition soon will have to be taken by the national administration of the relation between sound money and business advance is a conclusion easily drawn present conditions.

Uncertainty and lack of confidence remain the most disturbing factors in the recovery situation. The upturn has not kept pace with expectations based on earlier indication. That much of this is due to pressure for inflation and to the absence of concrete evidence that the president is not in sympathy with the movement is obvious.

Business leaders have indicated much. Now the federation of labor adds its voice to those demanding that Mr. Roosevelt come out emphatically for sound money. The federation's stand is taken following a survey made which showed that "the business mood at present is one of uncertainty." Much of this could be removed, it believes, by the president. A "declaration by the administration," it says, "could reassure business that in the next three months the currency would not be inflated and that eventually a return to the gold standard was contemplated."

It stands to reason that such a declaration would hearten both employers and employees and give new impetus to the recovery program. Although the president generally is believed to be opposed to an inflationists' program, his monetary policy—if he has a definite one—is unknown.

Removal of all uncertainty surrounding this question is needed. Until the white house acts to do this, the recovery program will continue to meet obstacles.

Street Crawlers

MOTORISTS and pedestrians are endangered by the operation of thousands of defective automobiles and motor trucks. Every unfit machine that is driven through the streets or upon the highways is a potential source of accidents. The large number of accidents caused by worn-out, defective steering gear, maladjusted headlights is a recent reason to demand that "cripples" be barred from the lanes.

There is another decisive argument against opening public highways to unworthy vehicles. On the theory that a lien is no stronger than its weakest link, traffic regulations must be made to fit the least efficient machine.

Operation of obsolete machines necessitates enforcement of regulations which were adopted prior to the advent of the highly efficient modern car. The car with four-wheel brakes can stop in half the space required by one with two-wheel brakes, but the former must comply with speed limits determined by the latter. Traffic stagnation is the result.

Most of the large cities have come to recognize the necessity of facilitating rather than restricting traffic, and mechanical efficiency of vehicles is the first prerequisite of this change in policy. Cars that are off like a flash on the green light and brought to a full stop just as quickly neither block traffic nor cause accidents.

MOVIES

AT THE CLIFTONA
Lionel Barrymore and Miriam Hopkins are co-starred in "The Stranger's Return," which opens Wednesday at the Cliftona Theatre as a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture of the currently popular Phil Stong novel of rural life, which follows his recent best-seller, "State Fair."

As the 85-year-old patriarch of a farm founded and pioneered by his family, Lionel Barrymore is said to have one of the most interesting characterizations of his brilliant career. His histrionic power is declared by preview critics to have attained new height in the climatic scenes.

Miss Hopkins, among the most popular feminine stars on the screen today, is afforded the best opportunity she has had in her role of the city girl who goes to her grandfather's farm and finds there the peace and contentment she couldn't get in the city. Here is a role of exacting demands and she is said to have exceeded the power the strength written into the original part.

The Optimists

THAT'S MY BOY!

by FRANCIS WALLACE
AUTHOR OF "HUDDLE"

SYNOPSIS

Born of humble parents, Mom and Pop, in a tiny Middle West factory town, Tommy Randolph, "always different from other children," becomes a high school football sensation both to the delight and disdain of his hard-working family. Big universities are bidding for him with the chances favoring Thorndyke, a "millionaire's college" in the East. Mom is all after planning the dress details of Tommy's graduation....

CHAPTER EIGHT

She hated to go in Sidney's. After all it was Tommy's graduation and everybody would be there and she couldn't have people pointing at her and nudging each other when she walked in with another brown poplin and some of them would be sure to say it was the same one she had been wearing to funerals for seven years. And Pete had given her the money with orders to get something special and she'd be a fool if she didn't; a person ought to have something new every so often anyhow.

All of a sudden Mom got mad at herself for being such a goose and she turned on her heel and went straight back to Julius's and right through the door before she could change her mind, just as if she had been going in there all her life, she went. And who came out to wait on her but Julius himself, just as if she was one of his steady customers.

"I know, I know," he said, and he smiled real nice, "it's a dress for the boy's graduation."

Mom smiled natural; she felt at home almost right away particularly as Myrt Flannigan was standing back with the other girls. Let her carry that home, Mom thought. "That's it," Mom said brightly, "you guessed it."

"Yes sir," Julius said, and he was real friendly, "when you've got a boy like that you've got to make him proud of you like everybody in town is proud of him. Myrtle, bring a chair for Mrs. Randolph."

And Myrt hopped, too. She pretended to smile when she sat it down and spoke to Mom but knew how she felt, all right, for Myrt Flannigan was one who always thought she was better than everybody else because she worked at Julius's.

"Now, what shall we show you?" Julius asked.

Mom sat there like a queen on a throne while they all waited. "I'd like to see that crepe de chene in the window—the brown."

Julius looked at Myrt and Myrt hopped again; they said Julius was hard on the girls and anytime they got high-toned with a customer he took it out on them. This was different than shopping at Sidney's where you stood around until somebody came and then you stood up among all the noise; but here it was like church, so soft and quiet, and with carpets on the floor. Mom guessed it was the style you paid for and that's why they had to charge two prices.

Julius was fingering the crepe de chene, holding it up to the light where Mom could look at it; and she knew that when she made up her mind she wouldn't have to argue some clerk down like it was at Sidney's half the time. And Julius was giving her suggestions about how she could have it made — they said he always did that when he waited on you personal; and of course Mom pretended she was going to have it made and not make it herself.

And while she was sitting there, like a queen on her throne, who walked in but Dorothy Whitney. She came over right away and spoke to Mom real nice and friendly like, as she always did. Then Dorothy sat watching for a little bit and finally said:

"May I suggest something?" "Why go right ahead," Mom said. "Then why don't you look at the blue satin-faced crepe?"

"You think so?" Mom asked, hesitatingly. "I always have been partial to brown."

"That's all the more reason you should try blue; it'll bring out the blue in your eyes and look well with your complexion."

Mom had only a hazy idea of what she meant but Dorothy was quite positive about it in her firm little way and anyhow Julius had already sent for the blue flat-crepe and when Myrt brought it, still smiling like it hurt her, Julius draped it over Mom. She was nervous anyhow and she never liked strange men to touch her, even a doctor, and it brought a color to her cheeks and light to her eyes; and when Mom looked in the mirror she was surprised at herself; she looked more like herself than she had looked since Tommy was born.

"Beautiful, absolutely beautiful," Julius was saying and even Myrt Flannigan seemed surprised. Dorothy stood by, smiling.

"Of course," Dorothy's voice was boyish and warm; but then, Mom thought, girls were getting more like boys every day.

"Then I guess I'll take it," Mom said, almost grandly, as if this were just another good dress she was adding to her wardrobe. Then her stomach sank. She had never asked the price. While Myrt was wrapping it up Julius was telling her how she could have it made up on the dull side and use parts of the bright side for trimming.

Mom was nodding; but in her mind was the more practical thought that when it began to look old on the dull side she could turn it inside out and change it some and have another new dress; then, when Myrt told her the price, Mom didn't feel as bad as she might have although she felt bad enough, goodness knows.

"Fifteen dollars," Myrtle said, as if she doubted that Mom ever saw that much money. Julius never handled the money himself, they said. Mom handed Myrtle a twenty-dollar bill, a goldback, too.

Then Dorothy drove Mom home in her little car, turning corners like a man and making Mom more nervous than she was already; and when Mom stepped out of the car at her door she saw the blind move on Mrs. Farrell's window. And she hoped the busybody saw what she was looking for.

Graduation time was sure a task for Mom. She had her troubles getting Pop outfitted as he argued every step of the way like a balky mule; then there was Tommy's suit which he saw in a window clear over to Smithville and there was nothing to do but let him have it although it cost $39.95. Mom didn't see how she would manage, but Pete had been saving for a new suit and he said she might as well use his twenty bucks because he'd be on night turn anyhow and couldn't go. Pete helped a lot with Pop, too, laughing at him and sometimes using main force, like when it came time to put on his new shoes. Pop left them off till the last minute when everybody else was dressed for the baccalaureate sermon and then it took everybody to get them on him. It was lucky it was held at the Baptist Church, Mom thought, because then he wouldn't have so far to go, really just around the corner; and at the last minute didn't she find out Pop still had a chew of tobacco in his mouth and probably would have disgraced her spitting it out just before he went into church or even holding it in his mouth all during the sermon—she wouldn't put it past him.

But finally they got there and Mom was real surprised at the fine way Pop carried it off. He acted sober as a judge and so dignified that people looked at him funny. Pop never noticed them except to speak very grandly to the most important ones; and once he even seemed to bow. Mom was really proud of him; and when they walked down the aisle, she in her new blue flat crepe, it was almost like they were getting married again. Indeed Pop, Mom decided, really should have been an actor; when he wanted to he could be more aristocratic than even Charlie Whitney.

It was worth all the trouble it took, Mom decided, to see the look they got from Mrs. Farrell and her skinny runt of a husband. Their Joie was graduating, too, although nobody seemed to know it but them. It wasn't Joie Mom felt that way about; Joie was all right himself; he minded his own business and it was too bad his parents couldn't learn from him.

Then Mom forgot everything else. Her Tommy, the president of his class, mind you, was walking down the aisle, leading the graduates.

How pretty he was, and how he carried himself so superior-like, as though he knew he was the most important one there and knew that everybody else knew it. Mom couldn't believe that this was really her little Tommy grown up to such a great man. But it was too bad that it had to be spoiled with that Ellie Crawford walking with him, ugly as a mud fence, but up there in front just because she was vice-president and she played basketball good because she played like everybody thought she was pretty. Mom couldn't help think what a picture it would be if Dorothy Whitney was walking with Tommy; but Dorothy was just a sophomore although she had come to the church with her folks anyhow.

Baldness, In Many Cases, Regarded As Hereditary

But There Are a Number of Scalp Infections Which May Lead to Loss of Hair

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States senator from New York
Former Commissioner of Health,
New York City

NOT LONG ago I discussed the prevention and cure of dandruff. It was pointed out that neglect of dandruff may cause thinning of the hair and lead to ultimate baldness. Today I want to tell you about some other disorders of the scalp that lead to loss of hair.

Baldness is a common affliction. In many cases it can be traced to some disturbance of the scalp or to impairment of the health. In some instances, the cause cannot be determined.

Many authorities regard baldness as hereditary. This belief is confirmed by the prevalence of baldness in certain families, while generations of other families escape it.

You may have observed a child without any hair at all. This is called "congenital alopecia." Many children are born hairless and go through life without any. This is doubtless the effect of heredity. It is a strange affliction, the cause of which has never been determined.

Bald Patches

Some persons have bald spots in unusual places on the scalp. Indeed, there may be many bald patches. This condition is called "alopecia areata." Occasionally hair may return to these bare areas and when it does it is usually white. The affliction is not necessarily limited to the scalp, but may involve the regions of the beard, eyebrows or mustache.

Though this disease has been recognized for centuries, little is known regarding its cause or cure. It was first described by "Celsus," a Greek physician, in the year 3 B. C. Strange as it may seem, the description and treatment outlined by the modern textbooks differ little from Celsus' original thesis.

"Tinea favus" is another strange and unusual affliction of the scalp. The scalp is covered with a yellow crust and the affliction leads to a marked loss of hair. The disease is encountered in children as well as adults. For many years little was known about the cause and treatment of this ailment. Successful measures have since been introduced for the cure of this rare disorder.

Ringworm Infection

Perhaps the most common cause of loss of hair is infection of the scalp. This may be traced to a germ or parasite. Parasitic infections are usually found in children. "Ringworm" is such a disease.

"Tinea capitis" is the medical name for an infection of the scalp commonly found in children. This is cured by completely shaving the scalp and the administration of carefully supervised X-ray treatment.

Infections of the scalp which may lead to temporary or permanent loss of hair are usually caused by lack of proper hygiene of the scalp, carelessness in the use of hair brushes and combs, and the neglect of minor disturbances of the hair. Permanent disfigurement can be prevented by prompt and careful attention. Neglect may lead to a chronic disorder that is often difficult to cure.

Faster Relief Now From Neuritis

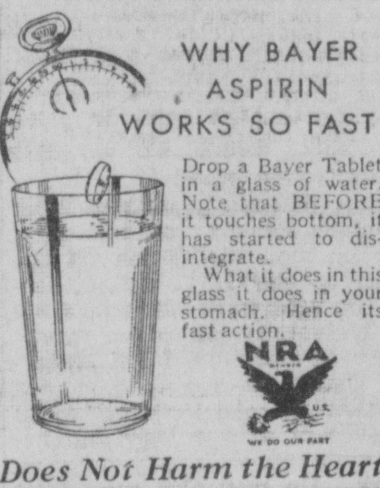

Real BAYER Aspirin "Takes Hold" of Pain in Few Minutes

Now comes amazingly quick relief from headaches, rheumatism, neuritis, neuralgia, ... the fastest safe relief, it is said, yet discovered.

Those results are due to a scientific discovery by which a Bayer Aspirin Tablet begins to dissolve, or disintegrate, in the amazing space of two seconds after touching moisture. And hence to start "taking hold" of pain a few minutes after taking.

The illustration of the glass, here, tells the story. A Bayer Tablet starts to disintegrate almost instantly you swallow it. And thus is ready to go to work almost instantly.

When you buy, though, see that you get the Genuine BAYER Aspirin. For Bayer Aspirin's quick relief always say "BAYER Aspirin."

Coming to The Cliftona Theatre

Lionel Barrymore, Miriam Hopkins and Franchot Tone in "The Stranger's Return" coming to the Cliftona Theatre, Wednesday and Thursday.

The Height of Boredom

By IRVIN S. COBB

WHEELBARROWS have been the subject of at least two standard anecdotes. There is the stock story of the Irish laborer who angrily yelled to an Italian co-worker: "Here you, quit monkeying with that there wheelbarrow. What would an ignorant dago like you know about machinery?" And there is the other dependable standby which nearly everybody has heard, of the visitor who was being escorted over the grounds of the state lunatic asylum and came to where a squad of the inmates were trundling material for a building job. The visitor noted that one of the group was holding his barrow upside down and said to him: "My friend, why don't you turn your wheelbarrow over and roll it in the regular way?" "Shh! Not so loud," warned the lunatic. "All these other chaps here are crazy but I'm the only sane one in the lot. Why if I turned this wheelbarrow over those fellows yonder would fill it full of bricks."

I craved to add a third to the list of wheelbarrow jokes. The man who told it to me vouched for its authenticity. He said that in a little town in Georgia there was a cotton-mill hand who, on account of the closing down of the mill, was given a summertime job of cleaning and repairing the village streets. He had no associates, and undoubtedly the work grew monotonous, yet he stuck to the task because he needed the money which the municipality paid him to tide him over the dull season.

One blazing hot morning a passer-by noticed that he was dragging his barrow behind him as he passed through the principal street. To the onlooker this seemed an especially laborious way of moving the unwieldy vehicle.

"Say, Bill," he called out, "what's the big idea? Why not push your wheelbarrow instead of pulling it?"

"Well, Mr. Dunson," answered the languid operative, "I do get so tired of looking at the damn thing all day."

NEWS OF HOMES AND HOME FOLKS

VOL. 4. NO. 42

Published by STEVENSON'S

Tuesday, October 17, 1933

The topic of the day is HEAT. It's on every mind these cold mornings. The problem is WHAT WILL GIVE US THE MOST HEAT FOR THE MONEY WE SPEND FOR FUEL. The answer is GET AN ESTATE HEATROLA. It'll give you MORE HEAT with LESS FUEL and will heat the floor at the base of the Heatrola.

"Oh," you say, "more bragging." Listen to the words of a Mr. S., Washington-tw, who had us install an Estate last fall: "We heated our living quarters with the one Heatrola and did it better than when we used two round heaters." And then Mr. N—ascends the witness stand and testifies that he has been heating his five room home all winter with not more than three and a half tons of coal.

Why sit around with goose-pimples on you and suffer from the sniffles and the shuffles when an Estate Heatrola will save you all of this? Get one right now.

Speaking of Heatrolas, maybe the people are not realizing the value of them. Only one day last week three of them were set up and are now giving their owners that "June warmth" that we all enjoy so much in the cold old winter time.

It just seems as though that we can't go to press without mentioning the Estate products that we handle. There's the Heatrola Coal Range about which we have been bragging. When it comes to beauty and durability we don't think that it can be beat. One came in the other day and is waiting for some one to come in and order it installed in their kitchen. It's just itching to add grace and beauty to some one's home. Be sure to see it before prices advance.

Sitting along side of the Heatrola range is a beautiful ivory and green oak SELLERS kitchen cabinet. With one of these cabinets in your kitchen, you'll not only have a piece that will save hundreds, yes, thousands, of steps each year. With everything in its place and a place for everything, you just can't help enjoying your kitchen work with a SELLERS.

You may have a small room that is difficult to heat. Drop in and see an oil heater that we have ready for you. It's not just a chill-chaser for chilly mornings, it's a real honest-to-gosh cold weather heater. See it.

Mrs. R—, that recently purchased one of those fine studio couches, reports that the sleeping comfort of this couch is wonderfully comfortable. If you wish an extra bed to put down stairs in your living room, be sure to see this one.

And always remember — we make things HOT for you (with an Estate Heatrola).

Wallace Considers Plan to Make Milk Public Utility

WASHINGTON—Secretary Wallace and his Brain Trust assistants are seriously considering the possibility of making milk a public utility. Agriculture Department authorities say there is no real excess of milk in the United States, but under-consumption due to unemployment together with the high prices charged by monopolistic distributors. The experts believe the milk marketing agreements are not meeting the milk problem, and that the best solution would be to declare the production and sale of the commodity a public utility.

Thus, the proponents hold, the government could force a material reduction in cost to the consumer, thereby appreciably increase purchases.

Hard-Boiled

The other day Madame Perkins, forthright Secretary of Labor, nominated Paul Pigott of Seattle to be Washington State Director of the National Re-Employment Service and wired Senator Homer Bone of Washington for his approval. Idealistic Senator Bone received the telegram, conferred with his ex-Secretary Sol Haas, now Collector of the Port of Seattle.

"Can she really mean Pigott," they exclaimed, "the notorious strike breaker, the man who has fought the battle of the power companies?"

So Senator Bone wired back to Madame Perkins describing the appointment as incredible. He offered to suggest several names in Pigott's place.

His only answer was the definite appointment of Pigott. Madame Secretary is getting hard-boiled.

Newest Debt Deal

The row over the collection of debts sown broadcast by American bankers for unsuspecting American bondholders during the Coolidge era, has now been settled.

Neither the bankers nor a government-formed agency will attempt to gather in the sadly shrunk debts.

Instead a group of distinguished and unprejudiced citizens will form a committee to do the job. It will be completely independent of the government and also of the bankers.

A lot of hard organization work has been done on this and it looks as if it will be one of the outstanding achievements of the New Deal.

Merry-Go-Round

Word comes to the Capital that Jim Reed is planning a return to the political arena. The doughty, silver-crested Missouri warrior is reported to be satisfied with private life, and has been assured by Missouri Democratic leaders that he can have the party's senatorial nomination without contest next year if he will run against the state's dry, reactionary Republican incumbent, Roscoe C. Patterson. Patterson and Reed have crossed swords before, with Reed the big winner.

WATER FIRM FIGHTS RATE

Utility Claims Prices Set by Delaware Council Not High Enough.

COLUMBUS, Oct. 16.—The state utilities commission today notified interested parties in the Delaware water rate case to be present here for a hearing on Nov. 14, at which time a program of procedure will be adopted for disposing of the protest filed by the Delaware Water Company against rates set by the city council.

The water company, through its attorney, F. M. Marriott, objected strenuously to fixing by ordinance the intervals when bills for metered water service may be rendered and collected, and to restrictions imposed upon rendering of certain bills for metered service but once in three months.

Bond was posted with the commission to enable the company to collect the old rates pending disposition of the appeal from the rate-fixing ordinance which was passed on Sept. 5, and is effective for two years.

New rates prescribed by the ordinance and at which the water company claims it cannot operate at a profit are: 35 cents per 100 cubic feet per month for the first 4,000 cubic feet, 25 cents per 100 cubic feet for the next 4,000 cubic feet, 19 cents per 100 cubic feet for the next 8,000 cubic feet, with an 8-cent rate for all in excess of that amount.

New meter charges would range from $1 per month for the 5-8 inch type to $50 per month for the 6-inch meter.

Name Sent to Postmaster-General for Appointment as Postmaster

GEPHART OKEHED

Letter of Instruction to Hays is Expected

Congressman Mell G. Underwood announced Tuesday that he had certified the name of Hulse Hays, N. Court-st., to Postmaster-General James A. Farley for appointment as postmaster for this city. He also forwarded the name of Thomas E. Gephart to act as postmaster at Williamsport to fill an expected vacancy.

Telegrams to C. A. Leist, chairman of the Pickaway-co Democratic executive committee, and to The Herald disclosed Mr. Underwood's action. Mr. Hays received word from Washington, D. C. that he would be sent a letter of instructions within a few days.

TELEGRAM QUOTED
Mr. Underwood's wire read: "In accordance with the recommendations recently made by the Democratic executive committee of Pickaway-co, I have forwarded to the postmaster-general the name of Hulse Hays for appointment as postmaster at Circleville, Ohio, and T. E. Gephart at Williamsport, Ohio."

It is expected that Mr. Farley will also certify Mr. Hays at once with a change to be made in the post office immediately thereafter. Mr. Hays' letter of instruction will probably care for all these details. Orville Trone, assistant postmaster, has been acting postmaster since the resignation of George P. Foreman, whose terms under Republican presidents expired last December. It is expected Mr. Trone will return to his duties as assistant postmaster. He was not an applicant for the permanent postmastership.

The local office pays a salary of $2,900 annually with a 15 per cent reduction under the economy program.

STATUS UNCERTAIN

The exact status of the Williamsport job is not yet certain. At the Democratic committee meeting last Tuesday Mr. Leist declared that Bertus Moore, Williamsport postmaster, informed him that he would resign if asked by postal authorities. No notice of the request has yet been received. Mr. Gephart was endorsed by the committee to temporarily fill the vacancy when such a vacancy exists.

Local Drys Gather As Wets Meet

Two Meetings Here; Mrs. Hays Attends Confab On Law's Reform.

The wet and dry contest which will be decided in Ohio on November 7, came 'home' today as both organizations girded for the fight in the 'home stretch.'

Two meetings of temperance advocates were scheduled here today while the Ohio division of the Women's Organization for Prohibition Reform, with a Pickaway-co representative as an official delegate, was meeting in Columbus to form definite plans for the drive to reach a climax in the election. Dry forces rallied at the Methodist Episcopal church this afternoon to hear Congressman Ellis Moore of Zanesville who was scheduled to make an address for prohibition under the auspices of the local Woman's Christian Temperance Union.

DOTY TO SPEAK

This evening a meeting sponsored by the United Temperance Forces of Pickaway-co, of which S. G. Rader is president, will be held in the Methodist church at 7:30 o'clock at which time Attorney Boyd P. Doty, of Columbus, will champion the cause of prohibition.

Mrs. Hulse Hays, N. Court-st., was in attendance at the meeting at the Neil house, Columbus, when women seeking the dry law's reform gathered.

The organization comprises one of the six units of the Ohio Repeal Council, the others being the Association Against the Eighteenth Amendment, the Crusaders, the Volunteer Committee of Lawyers of the American Bar association, the Ohio Federation of Labor and the Ohio Hotels association.

MAN WHO SHOT FISSELL, BOGGS UP FOR PAROLE

Claude Salsberry, Gerald McGraw to Get Hearing on December 1

OFFICIALS IRED

Letters of Opposition Expected to be Sent

The sheriff's office was up in arms today when it was learned Claude Salsberry and Gerald McGraw, convicted of shooting Deputy Sheriffs Miller Fissell and Morris Boggs last Jan. 11, are eligible for parole hearings on December 1. Announcement of the hearings was made by Dan J. Benzo, record clerk at the Ohio penitentiary where the two Columbus men are confined.

It seems only a short while ago that Salsberry and McGraw were sent to the prison. They were sentenced to the penitentiary for one to 20 years on Jan. 26, 15 days after the shooting on N. Court-st. Many letters of opposition to their parole are expected to be sent to the state board of paroles and pardons before the hearing date arrives.

SALSBERY GUNMAN

Salsberry, an unemployed salesman, was the gunman while McGraw was with him at the time of the shooting. Fissell was shot through the left shoulder and Boggs' left wrist was struck by bullets from Salsberry's revolver. McGraw stood still while the shooting was going on while Salsberry fled and was captured the next night while in bed at his home on S. City Park-ave, Columbus.

Fissell and Boggs have both suffered intensely as a result of their wounds, the former spending considerable time in the hospital. The shooting followed a chase in a running gun-fire over city streets between Salsberry and McGraw. The Columbus men, who came here after stealing a Columbus taxi-cab, were walking north on Court-st. after wrecking their cab.

FOLLOWED STATUTE

The sentence given them by Judge Adkins was compulsory under the law. The term, one to 20 years, means that convicted persons are eligible for parole after serving one year. If there is no opposition to their parole and their conduct while in the institution is satisfactory they are usually paroled.

Gilly Williams, father of a large Williamsport family, is also up for parole from the penitentiary December 1. Williams was convicted January 19, 1933, for breaking and entering a garage of Charles Arledge and stealing a quantity of staples.

County Man Knocks Top Off Racket

Rector As State Examiner Charges Columbus Official With Irregularity.

George Rector, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. C. Rector, Deer Creek-twp., is in the center of a 'squabble' which threatens to 'knock the top' off Columbus relief work. Rector is a state examiner and his report on the City of Columbus has resulted in the discharge of John C. McIntyre, supervisor of the city division of parks and forestry.

Rector's report named McIntyre in connection with payroll padding and pay-offs in city relief work.

Mayor Henry Worley in 'canning' McIntyre said "the evidence seems to be so conclusive we feel prosecution should ensue." McIntyre denied all charges.

Rector in his report to State Auditor Joe Tracy stated that teamsters hired by the city told him they had received extra money in their pay envelopes which they had given McIntyre. One of the teamsters said the man had bought whiskey and drank it while working.

PICKREL LAUDS 'AGE PENSIONS'

Dayton Man Speaks Here Monday Evening; Asks Support of NRA.

A plea for an 'old age pension' law in Ohio was made Monday evening by William C. Pickrel, Dayton, when he addressed a number of members of the Fraternal Order of Eagles and others at Memorial Hall.

Mr. Pickrel, a former lieutenant governor, is a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor and while here visited several local political leaders.

The speaker, introduced by Hugh McManamy, stressed the support given old age pensions by President Roosevelt who signed such a bill before he left the governor's chair in New York state. James M. Cox and numerous other leading men were listed as advocates of the system by the speaker.

"Loading newspapers, independent magazines, and numerous other influential agencies," Mr. Pickrel related, "are backing the old age pension plan. There are many safeguards in the proposed law and there will be no additional taxation if the state indorsed the system."

A number of other interesting facts concerning the plan were told by Mr. Pickrel.

He also praised the National Recovery Act and implored every one to support it.

Proceeding the address music was furnished by a quartet under the direction of Ren Mumaw.

CONVICT SHOT IN ESCAPE ATTEMPT

SHELBY, Oct. 17.—Shot in the back as he attempted to elude capture after a daring break for freedom from the custody of a guard who was returning him to the Wyoming penitentiary, William Scully, 26, an escaped convict, was reported near death in Shelby hospital here today.

Scully was shot down last night by two policemen, John Coleman and Duke Cline, who cornered him in an automobile driveway of a private residence here, after he had succeeded in removing his handcuffs and slipping off a train on which he was being taken back to Wyoming by Deputy Warden F. R. Kiesel of the Wyoming Penitentiary.

CO. COMMISSIONERS NAME DEPOSITORIES

The county commissioners, Monday, determined depositories for various county funds.

The Circleville Savings and Banking Co., the only local institution to present a bid, was granted a $100,000 active deposit for the next three years at 1 per cent.

The Ashville Banking Co. was granted $40,000 at 2 1/2 per cent; the Citizens Bank of Ashville $50,000 at 2 1/2 per cent and the Scioto Banking Co., Commercial Point, $5,000 at 2 per cent. The latter three are inactive deposits for three years.

SAYS CONGRESSMAN HINDERS NEW DEAL

Yellowbud Man Defies New Lexington Congressman to Meet Him Before County Committee; Says Record Shows Success of His Office; "Facts Twisted" Immell Declares.

A defy to Congressman Mell G. Underwood to meet him before the Pickaway-co Democratic executive committee to give the New Lexington man a chance to substantiate his charges against the Federal Land Bank at Louisville and himself as agent for the Land Bank commissioner, was hurled today by Robert L. Immell, of Yellowbud, in answer to charges fired by Mr. Underwood last week.

The congressman's assertions resulted in the county committee requesting Mr. Immell's resignation as agent for the commissioner.

"I will stand on my record and taking over my job," Mr. Immell said. "All charges Mr. Underwood made at the committee meeting were false and he knew they were. He was either ignorant of the working of the law or had some other motive in mind. He answered questions concerning the pointment of land agent, the number of Republican members had come to the hands," the agent declared.

"Mr. Underwood refused to Federal Land Bank at Louisville as a flop but on October 4 he was leading the nation's record. If this organization 'do' then the entire Farm system, one of the Roosevelt New Deal, Mr. Underwood is obstructing action of the New Deal by continuing. "This is not the occasion on which Mr. Underwood has resisted the policies of the New Deal. He voted against the Economy Act which gave the President the right to proceed with his efforts toward recovery. "The congressman in his boasting claiming that I did not follow patronage desires. I presented him to select the highest number of appointees of the office. "His statement concerning consolidation of my office was a Federal Land Bank led me to believe that the Federal Land Bank was the only one in this took place. It was nationwide and he was informed that the step was taken. "Mr. Immell concluded by saying Mr. Underwood to appear with him before the local committee. Mr. Immell announced Tuesday that he is opening a branch of the Federal Land Bank in Columbus. This branch will be located in the state house in the offices of the state banking department and will comprise six aides who (Continued on Page Two)

GROUP PLANS TO CONFER ON ROAD

Problem of Obtaining Funds For Route 22 Work Discussed At Kiwanis.

Possibility of re-construction of the Williamsport-pk. west of this city, at expense to the federal and state government, was discussed at length at the Kiwanis club meeting Monday evening.

The club has appointed a committee to visit the county commissioners next Monday to seek their indorsement for the project. Rotary and Chamber of Commerce have also named committees to meet with the county dads.

Fred C. Clark, who started the ball rolling toward the improvement; Meeker Terwilliger, of the Rotary club committee, and Clarence Helvering of the Kiwanis committee, related details concerning procedure toward obtaining funds for the work.

Circleville would benefit greatly by business from the western part of the county if the improvement can be made. Traffic over this highway from the eastern part of the nation to the west has increased greatly in the past few years and need of improvement is imperative.

Little Believed at Stake as Buckeyes Meet Wolverines

COLUMBUS, Oct. 17.—Ohio State is a battle for the Big Ten title, for when Saturday's game in the Michigan Stadium is finished, the loser will probably be eliminated from the title race.

The problem of gambling its title chances in its first throw of the dice in the Big Ten pool. Clearly, the Michigan-Ohio State battle is one of the outstanding games of the season. The Wolverines hold the title; Ohio State, represented this year by one of the greatest teams in history, is given an even chance to win, and above all, the two teams are natural rivals.

RECORD GREAT ONE

Coach Kipke's Michigan team has compiled a great record. Only once in the past three years have the Wolverines been defeated, and that by Ohio State in 1931. Still, Ohio State has won three of the past five games from the Wolverines, and never since Coach William took over the head coaching duties of the Buckeyes has his team lost to Michigan at Ann Arbor. Head Coach since 1929, William defeated the Wolves in 1929 and 1931 in the Michigan stadium, and then lost the 1930 and 1932 game in Ohio Stadium. Saturday's game will be the "rubber" of the Kipke-William series.

The Ohio State squad will leave here Thursday afternoon for Dearborn, Michigan, where they will stay at the Dearborn Inn until Saturday morning. On previous trips to Ann Arbor, the Buckeyes have stayed at Ypilanti, but this year a quieter spot was selected. It is 28 miles from Ann Arbor.

A battle between two great lines is expected Saturday. Ohio State will put up a big, versatile forward wall on the field, boasting two exceptional tackles in Ted Rosequist and Blackie Conrad, while Michigan's line is the only one in the conference rated nearly on a par with the Buckeye.

BUCKEYE STARS PERFORM IN LINE

HERE is one team where the stars are in the line. Despite the fact that Ohio State has several elusive backs, football fans in the Midwest are pointing to the big Buckeye forwards. Co-captains Joe Gailus, Vandergriff, Pa., and Sid Gillman, Minneapolis, Minn., are looked upon as all-America candidates and their play does not surpass that of the two gigantic tackles, Ted Rosequist, Cleveland, O., and "Blackie" Conrad, Wooster, O. Rosequist is rated as the best tackle in the Big Ten. This line averages 202 pounds from tackle to tackle and 198 pounds from end to end.

Alcatraz, a pile of solid rock rising from San Francisco Bay about a mile from the mainland, was first used as a fort by the Spanish. It has been a military prison since 1858. Terrific currents about the island obviate the possibility of escape. Map shows relative position to San Francisco.

Called 'Fatty,' Girl Is Suicide

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—She couldn't bear it when schoolmates called her "Fatty" and taunted her, Albert affectionately about her 200 pounds.

People in the streets turned to stare at her.

So Mary Jane Dane, 17, went to a rooming house and put a bullet into her brain.

Her hopeless humiliation grew on her until classes at Manhattan Industrial-high school became torture.

She went to a midtown rooming house, registering as "Dian Whitman." No one in the place paid much attention to her, and she spent two days immersed in romantic novels.

No one heard the fatal revolver shot but last night a maid entered the room and found the girl dead on the floor.

CHINESE ASSERT RUSSIAN PLANES KILLED MANY JAPS

PEIPING, Oct. 17.—Chinese newspapers today published extra editions charging six Russian airplanes dropped thirteen bombs on the city of Hsinking, capital of Manchukuo, killing 200 Japanese citizens.

The Chinese populace was jubilant over the report, while Russian, Chinese and Japanese officials endeavored to trace the source of the story, which was asserted to be part of a plot to embroil Russia and Japan in war.

The source was said to be the same as that responsible for recent reports that Russian airplanes from Mongolia circled Jehol City for three hours last Thursday.

will give over their time to instructing Ohio farmers in the proper manner to file their requests for federal farm loans.

These claims are not to be filed with the Columbus branch but information on how to prepare them and where to send them, according to location in the state, will be given out and every facility given to speed action on these Ohio claims so that with the great mass of claims from over the entire Fourth Federal Land Bank district comprising the states of Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky and Tennessee, the Ohio claims will not be smothered in the immense number coming in from all other sections.

Mr. Immel has been very busy since he entered into the government employ and his section has been somewhat backward owing to the fact that he was the last of the Land Commissioners agents appointed being put into the harness some fifteen days later than any of the others and then not getting a deputy until July 1st.

His first loan was approved and sent in on June 1st and then for four weeks no action could be taken because no appraisal reports were received from the appraisal department.

NOT WITH BANK

This department, Mr. Immel explained is a separate department within itself over which the Land Bank nor the agent of the land commissioners have any control.

The district had fifteen land appraisers at this opening period and these were devoting their times to teaching other appraisers. Now the entire district has almost 800 appraisers at work and Mr. Immel states that Ohio has 200 in action in the field. His section led the entire country in speed and in putting loan applications through the various channels into which they have to be placed before final action can be had upon them.

BAR GROUP WRITES WALTERS MEMORIAL

This community was shocked to learn of the unexpected death of Barton Walters, an out-standing citizen of Circleville, and a distinguished member and leader of the Pickaway County Bar, which occurred on Friday, September 8, 1935 at Mackinac City, Michigan.

Mr. Walters was seized with an attack of cardiac asthma, while on his way to Mackinac Island, seeking relief from fever, from which malady he suffered annually all his life, and lingered but a few hours after he was stricken.

Barton Walters was born in Circleville, Ohio, on the 15th day of November, 1876, where he grew to manhood.

His father, Festus Walters, was a distinguished lawyer and jurist and served for a number of years as a judge on the common pleas Court and Court of Appeals benches of this State.

Barton Walters graduated from the public schools of this city, where he won distinction as the captain of the High School Cadets. He afterward attended Ohio State University where he was a member of Phi Kappa Psi fraternity. Before taking up law as a profession he was very active in the study of archaeology and became quite an authority on such matters. He was also very fond of antiques and made a large and valuable collection of them, which he had at the time of his death.

After being admitted to the bar he began the practice of law at Circleveville, and was successful as a practitioner from the beginning of his career.

The shooting climaxed a quarrel over another woman. Bay was acquitted of slaying another film cowboy, "Yakima Jim" Anson, in 1925.

As a lawyer his services were in demand in the trial of many important cases, in Pickaway county, and throughout central Ohio.

He was always faithful to his professional duties, was a tireless student, energetic and thorough in his preparation of the cases in which he was engaged, and resourceful in the trial of the same. He was a man of pleasing personality, quick witted and gifted as an orator, which enabled him to place before a court and jury the facts and the law of a case in such manner as to be most convincing and earn him the well deserved reputation of a great advocate, which he was.

Barton Walters was always fair and honest in his professional duties, demanding and insisting upon the presentation of the rights of his clients in the trial of a case, and tireless and fearless in securing them, though he was always respectful to the court and opposing counsel. As a lawyer he will be missed not only by his large clientele of well to do people, but also by those who were unable to employ counsel, to whom he gave advice and services freely and cheerfully.

He was married to Mrs. Harriet Gallagher, who preceded him in death about one year ago. Although he had no children he took a fatherly interest in his nieces and nephews whom he helped in many ways.

His career of Barton Walters as a politician was unique. Born a Republican, he was always a warm advocate and supporter of that party, which signally honored him by repeatedly electing him to succeed himself as Chairman of the Republican Central and Executive Committees of this county, which offices he held continuously for a period of almost thirty years. He never sought any remunerative office, but was elected to the electoral college in 1920, and voted for Warren G. Harding as such, for president. He was chosen as a delegate to the National Republican Convention, at Cleveland, in 1924 when Calvin Coolidge was nominated for President to succeed himself.

His passing will be felt by the Republican party, as his activities as a leader in the interest of that party were many and beneficial. He will also be missed as a member of the Pickaway Bar and Law Library Association, of which he took an active and painstaking interest, and the fine law library of the local bar is due in a large measure to his efforts. Fraternally he was a Mason and an Elk. The deceased is survived by five brothers, namely: Robert, Homer, Ralph, Edmund and Nelson, all of Circleville, and Marie Walters, widow of Joseph Walters, a deceased brother and the children. Mr. Walters was buried in Forest Cemetery, of which he was one of the trustees, Rev. L. C. Sherburn, of St. Phillips Episcopal church, of which Mr. Walters was a communicant, officiating at his funeral which was attended by many of the bench and bar of central Ohio, besides a host of relatives and friends.

In conclusion a verse of a poem written of a distinguished citizen and member of the bar of his state comes to mind:

"And what a pleasing retrospect it shows him:
The 'troops of friends,' high honors, fairly won,
The love of those who knew him best and longest,
And, more than all, the sense of duty done."

MAKE PLANS FOR CORN FIELD DAY

Husking Contests Go To Huron-Co To Henry Farm At Monroeville.

Ohio's fourth annual field day for corn growers, when champion huskers of standing corn and corn in the shock are selected, is scheduled for November 3 at the farm of Arthur Henry, two miles east of Monroeville on Route 20.

Including besides the corn husking contest a series of educational demonstrations and exhibits of corn growing machinery, the event this year is expected to attract fully as many farmers as last year, when 15,000 attended Corn Field Day in Licking-co.

A special feature of this year's program is an exhibit and explanation of the Corn-Hog Program of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, the committee of Huron-co farmers in charge of the event announces.

The Ohio Farmer publication, by putting up the prize money for the husking contests and paying the way of the winner to the Nebraska national championship husking contests November 10, is sponsoring the athletic phases of the field day. Educational phases of the program are in charge of the Ohio Agricultural Extension Service.

Farm Machinery manufacturers are preparing to set-up exhibits in the 90-acre field adjoining the 70 acres where the husking contests are to be staged. This year's Corn-Hog contest, the same as last year, is expected to yield about 65 bushels an acre.

Teams for drawing wagons of the contestants and for hauling away corn will be furnished by the Huron County Draft Horse Association. The association will make the event an annual show, by providing prizes for the best teams entered.

SOME women don't mind making their husbands feel like thirty cents. And some even have a kind of a talent for making 'em feel that way.

At the Dour's house they had company, and Jim Dour went out to mix up a little lemonade or something for the guests.

When he heard his wife say, "Oh, Darling!" Jim came scotching out.

"What is it?" he says.

"O, Jim," she says, "be yourself! I was talking to the dog, of course! He was about to knock over the fern on his poor little back."

Why the Sudden Change to Liquid Laxatives?

Doctors have always recognized the value of the laxative whose dose can be measured, and whose action can be controlled.

The public, too, is fast returning to the use of liquid laxatives. People have learned that a properly prepared liquid laxative brings a perfect movement without any discomfort at the time, or after.

The dose of a liquid laxative can be varied to suit the needs of the individual. The action can thus be regulated. It forms no habit; you need not take a "double dose" a day or two later. Nor will a mild liquid laxative irritate the kidneys.

The wrong cathartic may keep you constipated as long as you keep on using it.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a prescription, and is perfectly safe. Its laxative action is based on senna — a natural laxative. The bowels will not become dependent on this form of help. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is at all druggists. Member N. R. A.

The Optimists

The Uncertainty

Recognition soon will have been taken by the national administration of the relation between sound money and business conditions is a conclusion easily reached in present conditions.

Uncertainty and lack of confidence remain the most disturbing factors in the recovery situation.
 Return has not kept pace with deflation based on earlier inflation. That much of this is due to the pressure for inflation and to the absence of concrete evidence that the president is not in sympathy with the movement is obvious.

Business leaders have indicated much. Now the federation of adds its voice to those demanding that Mr. Roosevelt come emphatically for sound money.

The federation's stand is taken following a survey made which showed that "the business mood at present is one of uncertainty."

Each of this could be removed, it is believed, by the administration.
 The survey "could reassure business in the next three months the recovery would not be inflated that eventually a return to the old standard was contemplated."

It stands to reason that such a declaration would hearten both employers and employees and give impetus to the recovery program. Although the president generally is believed to be opposed to an inflationists' program, his monetary policy—if he has a definitive one—is unknown.

Removal of all uncertainty surrounding this question is needed.
 Until the white house acts to do this, the recovery program will continue to meet obstacles.

Street Crawlers

MOTORISTS and pedestrians are endangered by the operation of thousands of defective automobiles and motor trucks.
 Every unfit machine that is driven through the streets or upon the highways is a potential source of accidents. The large number of accidents caused by worn-out cars, defective steering gear, maladjusted headlights is a sufficient reason to demand that the "cripples" be barred from the lanes.

There is another decisive argument against opening public thoroughfares to unroadworthy cars. On the theory that a car is no stronger than its weakest link, traffic regulations must be made to fit the least efficient machine.

Operation of obsolete machines necessitates enforcement of regulations which were adopted prior to the advent of the highly efficient modern car. The car with four-wheel brakes can stop in half the space required by one with two-wheel brakes, but the former must comply with speed limits determined by the latter. Traffic regulation is the result.

Most of the large cities have come to recognize the necessity of facilitating rather than restricting traffic, and mechanical efficiency of vehicles is the first prerequisite of this change in policy.
 Cars that are off like a flash on the green light and brought to a full stop just as quickly neither block traffic nor cause accidents.

THAT'S MY BOY!

by FRANCIS WALLACE
 AUTHOR OF "HUDDLE"

SYNOPSIS

Born of humble parents, Mom and Pop, in a tiny Middle West factory town, Tommy Randolph, "always different from other children", becomes a high school football sensation both to the delight and disdain of his hard-working family. Big universities are bidding for him with the chances favoring Thorndyke, a "millionaires' college" in the East. Mom, in all after planning the dress details of Tommy's graduation....

CHAPTER EIGHT

She hated to go in Sidney's. After all it was Tommy's graduation and everybody would be there and she couldn't have people pointing at her and nudging each other when she walked in with another brown poplin and some of them would be sure to say it was the same one she had been wearing to funerals for seven years. And Pete had given her the money with orders to get something special and she'd be a fool if she didn't; a person ought to have something new every so often anyhow.

All of a sudden Mom got mad at herself for being such a goose and she turned on her heel and went straight back to Julius's and right through the door before she could change her mind, just as if she had been going in there all her life, she went. And who came out to wait on her but Julius himself, just as if she was one of his steady customers.

"I know, I know," he said, and he smiled real nice, "it's a dress for the boy's graduation."

Mom smiled natural; she felt at home almost right away particularly as Myrt Flannigan was standing back with the other girls. Let her carry that home, Mom thought.

"That's it," Mom said brightly, "you guessed it."

"Yes sir," Julius said, and he was real friendly, "when you've got a boy like that you've got to make him proud of you like everybody in town is proud of him. Myrtle, bring a chair for Mrs. Randolph."

And Myrt hepped, too. She pretended to smile when she sat it down and spoke to Mom but knew how she felt, all right, for Myrt Flannigan was one who always thought she was better than everybody else because she worked at Julius's.

"Now, what shall we show you?" Julius asked.

Mom sat there like a queen on a throne while they all waited. "I'd like to see that crepe de chene in the window—the brown."

Julius looked at Myrt and Myrt hepped again; they said Julius was hard on the girls and anytime they got high-toned with a customer he took it out on them. This was different than shopping at Sidney's where you stood around until somebody came and then you stood up among all the noise; but here it was like church, so soft and quiet, and with carpets on the floor. Mom guessed it was the style you paid for and that's why they had to charge two prices.

Julius was fingering the crepe de chene, holding it up to the light where Mom could look at it; and she knew that when she made up her mind she wouldn't have to argue some clerk down like it was at Sidney's half the time. And Julius was giving her suggestions about how she could have it made—then she said he always did that when he waited on you personal; and of course Mom pretended she was going to have it made and not make it herself.

And while she was sitting there, like a queen on her throne, who walked in but Dorothy Whitney. She came over right away and spoke to Mom real nice and friendly like, as she always did. Then Dorothy sat watching for a little bit and finally said:

"May I suggest something?" "Why go right ahead," Mom said. "Then why don't you look at the blue satin-faced crepe?"

"You think so?" Mom asked, hesitatingly. "I always have been partial to brown."

"That's all the more reason you should try blue; it'll bring out the blue in your eyes and look well with your complexion."

Mom had only a hazy idea of what she meant but Dorothy was quite positive about it in her firm little way and anyhow Julius had already sent for the blue flat-crepe and when Myrt brought it, still smiling like it hurt her, Julius draped it over Mom. She was nervous anyhow and she never liked strange men to touch her, even a doctor, and it brought a color to her cheeks and light to her eyes; and when Mom looked in the mirror she was surprised at herself; she looked more like herself than she had looked since Tommy was born.

"Beautiful, absolutely beautiful," Julius was saying and even Myrt Flannigan seemed surprised. Dorothy stood by, smiling.

"Of course," Dorothy's voice was boyish and warm; but then, Mom thought, girls were getting more like boys every day.

"Then I guess I'll take it," Mom said, almost grandly, as if this were just another good dress she was adding to her wardrobe. Then her stomach sank. She had never asked the price. While Myrt was wrapping it up Julius was telling her how she could have it made up on the dull side and use parts of the bright side for trimming.

Mom was nodding; but in her mind was the more practical thought that when it began to look odd inside out and change it some and have another new dress; then, when Myrt told her the price, Mom didn't feel as bad as she might have although she felt bad enough, goodness knows.

"Fifteen dollars," Myrt said, as if she doubted that Mom ever saw that much money. Julius never handled the money himself, they said. Mom handed Myrtle a twenty-dollar bill, a goldback, too.

Then Dorothy drove Mom home in her little car, turning corners like a man and making Mom more nervous than she was already; and when Mom stepped out of the car at her door she saw the blind move on Mrs. Parrell's window. And she hoped the busybody saw what she was looking for.

Her Tommy, the president of his class, mind you, was walking down the aisle, leading the graduates.

How pretty he was, and how he carried himself so superior-like, as though he knew he was the most important one there and knew that everybody else knew it. Mom couldn't believe that this was really her little Tommy grown up to such a great man. But it was too bad that it had to be spoiled with that Ellie Crawford walking with him, ugly as a mud fence, but up there in front just because she was vice-president and vice-president good—she played basketball good—and her smirking like everybody thought she was pretty. Mom couldn't help think what a picture it would be if Dorothy Whitney was walking with Tommy; but Dorothy was just a sophomore although she had come to the church with her folks anyhow.

Baldness, In Many Cases, Regarded As Hereditary

But There Are a Number of Scalp Infections Which May Lead to Loss of Hair

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
 United States senator from New York
 Former Commissioner of Health,
 New York City

NOT LONG ago I discussed the prevention and cure of dandruff. It was pointed out that neglect of dandruff may cause thinning of the hair and lead to ultimate baldness.

Today I want to tell you about some other disorders of the scalp that lead to loss of hair.

Baldness is a common affliction. In many cases it can be traced to some disturbance of the scalp or to impairment of the health. In some instances, the cause cannot be determined.

Many authorities regard baldness as hereditary. This belief is confirmed by the prevalence of baldness in certain families, while generations of other families escape it.

You may have observed a child without any hair at all. This is called "congenital alopecia." Many children are born hairless and go through life without any. This is doubtless the effect of heredity. It is a strange affliction, the cause of which has never been determined.

Bald Patches
 Some persons have bald spots in unusual places on the scalp. Indeed, there may be many bald patches. This condition is called "alopecia areata." Occasionally hair may return to these bare areas and when it does it is usually white. The affliction is not necessarily limited to the scalp, but may involve the regions of the beard, eyebrows or mustache.

Ringworm Infection
 Perhaps the most common cause of loss of hair is infection of the scalp. This may be traced to a germ or parasite. Parasitic infections are usually found in children. "Ringworm" is such a disease.

"Tinea capitis" is the medical name for an infection of the scalp, commonly found in children. This is cured by completely shaving the scalp and the administration of carefully supervised X-ray treatment.

Infections of the scalp which may lead to temporary or permanent loss of hair are usually caused by lack of proper hygiene of the scalp, carelessness in the use of hair brushes and combs, and the neglect of minor disturbances of the hair. Permanent disfigurement can be prevented by prompt and careful attention. Neglect may lead to a chronic disorder that is often difficult to cure.

Faster Relief Now From Neuritis

Real BAYER Aspirin "Takes Hold" of Pain in Few Minutes

Now comes amazingly quick relief from headaches, rheumatism, neuritis, neuralgia... the fastest safe relief, it is said, yet discovered.

Those results are due to a scientific discovery by which a Bayer Aspirin Tablet begins to dissolve, or disintegrate, in the amazing space of two seconds after touching moisture. And hence to start "taking hold" of pain a few minutes after taking.

The illustration of the glass, here, tells the story. A Bayer Tablet starts to disintegrate almost instantly you swallow it. And thus is ready to go to work almost instantly.

When you buy, though, see that you get the Genuine BAYER Aspirin. For Bayer Aspirin's quick relief always say "BAYER Aspirin."

Does Not Harm the Heart

WHY BAYER ASPIRIN WORKS SO FAST
 Drop a Bayer Tablet in a glass of water. Note that BEFORE it touches bottom, it has started to disintegrate. What it does in this glass it does in your stomach. Hence its fast action.

Labor Board Wield Stick For Recovery Board

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—The National Labor board, with its complete roster of the first huge company to challenge its authority to force settlement of labor disputes, today moved into the fore-ground as the NRA's chief code enforcement unit.

Encountering defiance from E. T. Weir, chairman of the board of the National Steel company, the board retained jurisdiction in the dispute between the company and 13,000 strikers in West Virginia and lower Ohio plants, and also worked out the following settlement of the strike:

1. On the promise of the National Labor board, with its complete roster of the first huge company to challenge its authority to force settlement of labor disputes, today moved into the fore-ground as the NRA's chief code enforcement unit.

2. Company agreed to recognize the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers, affiliated with the A. F. of L., in case the union officials won the most votes in the proposed election.

3. The company further agreed to accept the board as permanent mediator in future disputes.

The coal company officials far have presented a case very similar to that causing the steel strike settled yesterday.

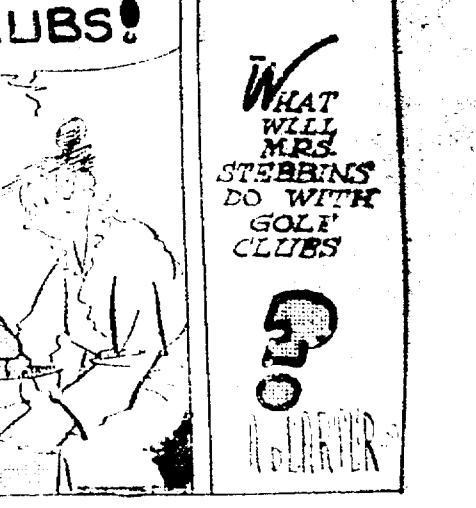

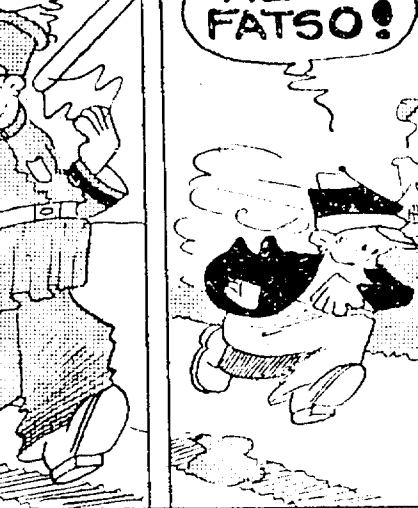

They assert, like Weir, they have recognized a group of "truly representative" workers, with whom they are dealing, and they refuse to recognize the officials of the United Mine Workers of America.

The coal operators have gone farther than Weir did, however. They claim to have signed "company" agreements with alleged "company" union, the independent progressive miners.

The Height of Boredom

By IRVIN S. COBB

And there is the other dependable standby which nearly everybody has heard, of the visitor who was being escorted over the grounds of the state lunatic asylum and came to where a squad of inmates were trundling material for a building job. (The visitor noted that one of the group was holding his barrow upside down and said to him: "My friend, why don't you turn your wheelbarrow over and roll it this way?" "Sh! Not so loud," warned the lunatic. "All these other chaps here are crazy but I'm the only sane one in the lot. Why if I turned this wheelbarrow over those fellows yonder would fill it full of bricks.")

I crave to add a third to the list of wheelbarrow jokes. The man who told it to me vouched for its authenticity. He said that in a little town in Georgia there was a cotton-mill hand who, on account of the closing down of the mill, was given a summer-time job of cleaning and repairing the village streets. He had no associates, and undoubtedly the work grew monotonous, yet he stuck to the task because he needed the money which the municipality paid him to tide him over the dull season.

One blazing hot morning a passer-by noticed that he was dragging his barrow behind him as he passed through the principal street. To the onlooker this seemed an especially laborious way of moving the unwieldy vehicle.

"Say, Bill," he called out, "what's the big idea? Why not push your wheelbarrow instead of pulling it?"

"Well, Mr. Dunson," answered the languid operative, "I do get so tired of looking at the damn thing all day."

NEWS OF HOMES AND HOME FOLKS

VOL. 4. NO. 42

Published by STEVENSON'S

Tuesday, October 17, 1933

The topic of the day is HEAT.

It's on every mind these cold mornings. The problem is WHAT WILL GIVE US THE MOST HEAT FOR THE MONEY WE SPEND FOR FUEL. The answer is GET AN ESTATE HEATROLA. It'll give you MORE HEAT with LESS FUEL and will heat the floor at the base of the Heatrola.

"Oh," you say, "more bragging." Listen to the words of a Mr. S., Washington-twp, who had us install an Estate last fall: "We heated our living quarters with the one Heatrola and did it better than when we used two round heaters."

And then, Mr. N., ascends the witness stand and testifies that he has been heating his five room home all winter with not more than three and a half tons of coal.

Why sit around with goose-pimples on you and suffer from the sniffles and the snuffles when an Estate Heatrola will save you all of this? Get one right now.

Speaking of Heatrolas, maybe the people are not realizing the value of them. Only one day last week three of them were set up and are now giving their owners that "June warmth" that we all enjoy so much in the cold old winter time.

It just seems as though that we can't go to press without mentioning the Estate products that we handle. There's the Heatrola Coal Range about which we have been bragging. When it comes to beauty and durability we don't think that it can be beat. One came in the other day and is waiting for some one to come in and order it installed in their kitchen. It's just itching to add grace and beauty to some one's home. Be sure to see it before prices advance.

Sitting along side of the Heatrola range is a beautiful ivory and green oak SELLERS kitchen cabinet. With one of these cabinets in your kitchen, you'll not only have a piece that will save hundreds, yes, thousands, of steps each year. With everything in its place and a place for everything, you just can't help enjoying your kitchen work with a SELLERS.

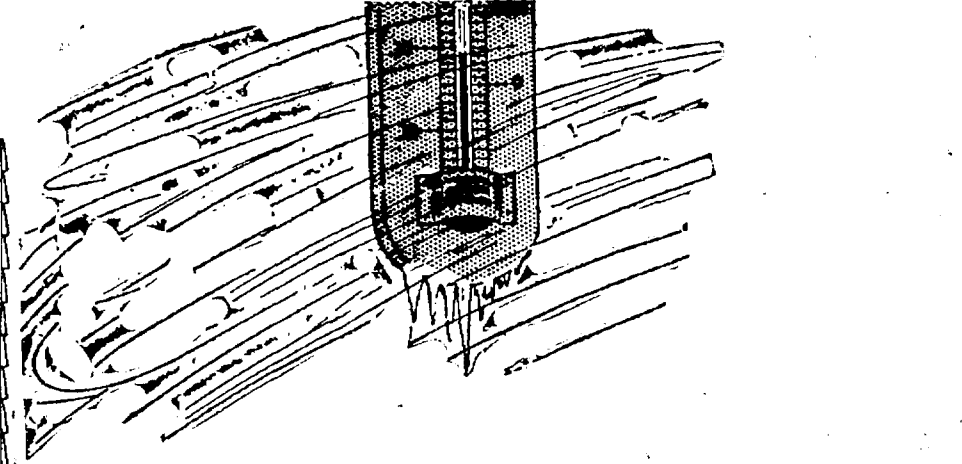

You may have a small room that is difficult to heat. Drop in and see an oil heater that we have ready for you. It's not just a chill-chaser for chilly mornings, it's a real honest-to-gosh cold weather heater. See it.

Mrs. R., that recently purchased one of those fine studio couches, reports that the sleeping comfort of this couch is wonderfully comfortable. If you wish an extra bed to put down stairs in your living room, be sure to see this one.

And always, remember — we make things HOT for you (with an Estate Heatrola).

When the Thermometer Outside is Registering Various Degrees of Cold..

You'll Enjoy The Steady Comfort of Gas Heat

Providing a constant, comfortable temperature inside the home, when an undecided thermometer outside is registering up-and-down degrees of cold, still is an unsolved problem for many families. Perhaps you can trace much wasted fuel, general discomfort and winter illness to this cause. But this is not the case in homes heated with gas—the fuel that is most subject to automatic control and the one fuel that requires no handling.

Economical and Flexible
Gas for home heating includes every favorable factor found in ALL other fuels. It even takes its place among the most economical fuels because this method of heating involves no incidental expenses.

Gas is a flexible fuel. It can be burned in an all gas furnace or in a gas-fired unit installed in your present furnace to heat the whole house — in a gas circulating heater to provide warmth to one or several rooms — or in a gas radiant heater to furnish quick, cheerful heat at the place you want it most. Let an engineer from The Gas Company check your present heating facilities and requirements. He can prove to you that —
